Selectmen's Meeting

DECEMBER 13, 1983 - by Virginia Arral
GRANGE HALL -
The Low Bidder - $35,000 - The Only Bidder

Marc C. Goddu, 13 Water Street, Mattapoisett, owner and operator of the Mattapoisett Inn, offered his bid - the low bid and the only bid - $35,000, for the historic Grange Hall, 1 Fairhaven Road. Selectmen accepted the bid Tuesday, with certain provisions.

The 167-year old historic Grange Hall is assessed at $50,000 for the land and building. Selectmen had requested in the advertisement bids of no less than $50,000.

Goddu's bid was contingent upon the Board of Selectmen agreeing that all the advertisement stipulations have been met and also upon his proposed plans being approved by the zoning Board of Appeals.

His plans include building two two-bedroom apartments and one studio apartment on each floor. He explained he would make no major changes on the outside other than necessary repairs and weatherproofing. He said the inside was in bad shape and would be completely restructured. He added that he felt the town could use more year-round rental property.

Selectman James F. Huntoon explained the board has three steps to take: 1) decide whether or not the bid complies with the advertisement, 2) whether the purchase price is acceptable, and 3) whether the description of the use by the bidder is acceptable and protects the town's interest.

Huntoon recommended the bid be referred to Town Counsel Donald J. Fleming for his written opinion on the zoning. At the present time, town laws permit only four apartments; anything other than that number must go to the Board of Appeals.

Executive Secretary Carol Adams said she was surprised at the sole bid, especially after she had shown the property to nine people.

Selectman Frank Suzan brought up the subject of sewerage lines to service six apartments. Selectmen Chairman John DeCosta noted that at the present time there are only two restrooms - one for men and one for women - and that there has never been a need for a larger system. They noted that at the present time town lines go to Hammond Street and there are no immediate plans for expansion in that direction.

Goddu agreed he will have to look into the septic system. He said he can't foresee too many other options for use of the building. No matter what you put there you would need a larger system. He added, "We need to know whether you will accept our bid so we can prepare a formal presentation to the Board of Appeals."

The Selectmen and Goddu will jointly pursue the zoning change; however, Selectmen stressed the town will not foot any charges for the procedure.

In conclusion, Selectmen said to ensure we are all bargaining in good faith we will enter into negotiations for purchase of the Grange Hall agreeable to both parties. If someone else came in and offered us $40,000 we will not be able to change our minds.

Huntoon said he is pleased that Goddu, as a townsperson, has come forward to bid on the Grange Hall. He added that Goddu has done such a good job with the Mattapoisett Inn, also an historical building.

After Goddu left the meeting, the board discussed the possibility of installing town sewer lines to the Grange property. Suzan estimated it would cost $160,000 to extend the lines from Hammond Street.

At the present time, the town has $50,000 remaining in the sewer account, with the possibility of obtaining some additional state or federal funds for expansion. Selectmen discussed the possibility if the bidder consented to spend his funds by adding to the sewer account to extend the lines rather than put it into a private septic system, the project has possibilities.

In other business, Selectmen:

AWARDED a contract to Big Red Q of New Bedford on their low bid to print the town reports and the town warrants.

Their low bid of $15.95 per page (photographs extra) for the report and $19.95 per page for the warrant was recommended by Executive Secretary Carol Adams. She said she had seen the company's work and was favorably impressed and that she had received comments from satisfied customers of the Big Red Q.

Other bidders were: High-Tech Graphics of Fitchburg (low bidder last year d/b/a Rene Press), $18.00 per page reports and $25.00 per page warrants; and R.E. Smith Co., Fall River, $18.36 per page reports, and $18.89 per page warrants.

APPOINTED Joseph Krisnosky, Jr., 9 York Street, New Bedford, as a part-time police officer, at the recommendation of Police Chief James Moran.

Moran noted that Krisnosky is a trained EMT-Intermediate and the Chief felt this experience will be extremely beneficial to the department.

Selectmen expressed pleasure with Krisnosky's experience. However, they noted they would like to see more local persons recommended for appointments.

HEARD from State Representative Walter Silveira regarding the state funding of shellfish propagation to towns. He indicated that this is merely proposed and so far the amount of opposition received may cause the proposal to die. He said he is watching the situation and will work to ensure the inclusion of the full amount of monies (estimated to be $300,000).

Honor Society

On Thursday, November 17th Old Rochester Regional High School National Honor Society held its 1983 induction of new members.

The candlelight ceremony took place in the Joseph C. Kunces Library. Two seniors, Margaret Johnson and Melanie Johnson, were inducted along with Susan Herman, Ann Riedl, Joseph Rocha, and Kaaren Wileczka, who are juniors.

Dwayne Cameron, mathematics department coordinator at ORR, was the guest speaker. Mr. Cameron congratulated the new members and reminded them that they will have many more challenges ahead of them. They should continue to put as much effort into future endeavors as they have in the past.

The Honor Society officers this year are Laurel Watjen, President; Carmen Gracia, Vice President; and Caren Dunn, Secretary/Treasurer.

Following Mr. Cameron's speech, the officers gave brief presentations on the qualities expected of members. These include scholarship, leadership, character and service. Laurel Watjen conducted the candlelighting ceremony and recitation of the Honor Society pledge. Certificates of membership were presented by Barbara A. Meehan, advisor of the National Honor Society. Closing remarks were made by Ms. Meehan, who advised the members not to take their talents for granted and to recognize that every person has unique gifts to be shared with others.

Refreshments provided by the officers were served after the ceremony.

Dollars for Scholars

The December meeting of the MMR Tri-Town Dollars for Scholars Board of Trustees was held on December 5th at Old Rochester Regional Library. The Board wishes to extend its heartfelt thanks to St. Anthony's Guild for allowing MMR to sell cup plates at the annual Christmas Fair on December 3rd. The fair was a very profitable event for the MMR Scholarship Fund. The 1983 Ned's Point Light cup plate in clear, cobalt, and teal is still available at Seaport Pharmacy, Old Rochester Regional High School, Uppercut in Marion, and from members of the Board for $7.50. On December 31st the mold for this plate will be destroyed. Any plates available after the first of the year will be sold for $10.

In other business, the Board welcomed two new members. Peter Foster of Mattapoisett and Jean DeSilva of Marion were elected unanimously. The Board also accepted the resignation of Laura Cook as Secretary. Ruth Jefferson of Rochester will replace Mrs. Cook as Secretary.

Becky Zora presented two cash donations to the Board. One came from the Marion Town Party Committee. This donation came from the proceeds of the Marion Town Party held in August. The other gift was from the Old Rochester Regional High School Class of 1968. Both donations were specifically earmarked for the endowment fund. The Board thanks both groups for their gifts.

Laurel Watjen gave a report on the Student Group's plans for a fund-raising dance. The dance will be held on February 11th with a Valentine's Day theme. It will take place at Hoyt Hall, Tabor Academy. Tabor will co-sponsor the dance with Dollars for Scholars but all proceeds will benefit the Scholarship Fund. Any

The Board would like to take this opportunity to wish all residents of the Tri-Town area Season's Greetings and Happy, Healthy New Year.

ORR Chess

The ORR Chess Team opened its defense of the League Championship with a draw (2½-2½) against Bishop Stang this past Monday. Picking up points for ORR were Captain Aaron Sylvia (Board 2-½ pt.), Bill Smirnov (Board 3-1 pt.), and Eric Sylvia (Board 4-1 pt.).

Mr. Cameron, the advisor, is somewhat concerned this year in that returning veterans, Jeff Starecheski and Stan Moszczenski are not in the lineup. This year's team is made up primarily of 9th graders with little or no experience. According to Mr. Cameron, this year's group is more defense oriented and lacks the "killer instinct" of last year's team.

The Ultimate Gourmet Dessert

Bassetts ICE CREAM of Philadelphia

Fabulous Flavors

Champagne Ice—Shh! Here's the secret—this fantastic flavor is made with real champagne. Eight bottles of Great Western Champagne are used in every 50 gallons of this taste-tempting flavor.

Rum Raisin—Our most adult flavor. Plump juicy raisins are soaked in rum and then added to our world famous vanilla ice cream for a tart yet seductive taste.

The History of World Famous Bassetts Ice Cream

Since 1861, the Bassett family has made one of the world's finest super premium ice creams. In that year, Lewis Dubois Bassett made his first ice cream using a mule-turned churn in the backyard of his Salem, New Jersey farmhouse. In 1893, production was moved to Philadelphia's Reading Terminal Market where to this day a Bassetts stand can still be found. For four generations Bassetts ice cream has delighted and tempted the palates of Philadelphians and visitors alike.

Now under the dynamic leadership of Ann Bassett, great granddaughter of the founder, Bassetts is expanding its market so millions more can enjoy its rich creamy taste. This ice cream has been called, immodestly, "the Rolls Royce of ice creams" and "the world's finest" by no less than the New York Times.

Bassetts ice cream is made with only the finest ingredients available. It has been described as "sensuous" and "seductive" on the tongue. It creates fiercely loyal fans who will stop at very little to have a dish of their favorite flavor.

Ann Bassett stands behind her ice cream. "When your reputation is quality and your name is on every carton, we make sure that the product is consistent and the ingredients used are the best we can find".

For a taste of the ultimate gourmet dessert, try some today.

PETER PAN AT S.M.U.

by David Boyce

The musical adaptation of James M. Barrie's "Peter Pan" has delighted audiences for thirty years and it is a fitting choice for presentation at the holiday season. The S.M.U. Theater Company undertook this mission in four performances (December 8-11) and judging by the full house at the Saturday night show, audiences were regaled, yet again, by the magical tale of the boy who refused to grow up.

Made famous by the annual television productions of the 1950's and especially the immeasurable talents of Mary Martin and Cyril Ritchard, "Peter Pan" was recently revived on Broadway with Sandy Duncan and George Rose (who was quickly succeeded by Christopher Hewett, now of TV's "Fantasy Island"). Having seen this Broadway production as well as those on TV, I have been seduced by the play's power to reduce anyone to the wide-eyed awe of a five year old. Yet, whatever Barrie's words give to the heart or lift to the spirit or however charmed one may be by the music, the magic of "Peter Pan" is in the flying. It amazes the most sophisticated eye and probably always will, even when the wires are right there to see. The play is so enhanced by this relatively simple feat of seeing actors carried aloft that the child in us all is awakened and mesmerized. That magic persisted in the SMU production, although I was never swayed from the knowledge that I was seeing a student effort.

Alice Long, in the title role, imbued Peter with boyish charm. Her singing was strong, her flying graceful. Her performance would have benefited by more spontaneous animation. Robert Powers, in the dual roles of Mr. Darling and Captain Hook, proved an appropriately fussy curmudgeon in the former, but as Hook, Mr. Powers only scratched the surface of the rich comedic possibilities inherent in the part. He displayed greater enthusiasm when accompanied by his zany pirate crew, who provided the best moments of the evening. Mr. Powers' singing was best exhibited in the delightful "Mysterious Lady" number, with Ms. Long.

As Wendy, Susan LaFlame was the picture of proper English girlhood; however, she fell out of character when not delivering her lines. Michael Dube, as little brother Michael, grew beautifully into his acting responsibilities. Ian Prescott, in the quite thankless role of older brother John, was a bit stiff. Janet Perry proved believable as the matronly Mrs. Darling.

Special mention should go to John Gagne as the pirate, Cecco; Al Bazzinotti as Smee, Audrey Murley as a dancing ostrich, and Natalie Sheehan as Liza the maid, who performed, among other things, a bestial waltz with aplomb and grace.

Sets and lights by Dan Murphy were adequate. Costumes by Anne Couto were slightly more imaginative. Musical direction by Jane Fiori could have been tighter and Janice MacDonald's choreography was serviceable. The enormous cast of fifty-five was directed by Angus Bailey, who, after this gargantuan undertaking, probably deserves a restful vacation!

It is commendable to see productions of this complexity undertaken by college groups. They involve many students, exposing them to the demanding disciplines that theater requires and gives to them a sense of what the fruits of cooperation can be. The theater has rich trove of traditions that, hand-in-hand with literature, must be passed on to each succeeding generation. One of those attendant traditions is the critical role of the reviewer. With these thoughts in mind, this reviewer would like to say that in order to be fair and objective, the critic must be able to see the play. The seat I was assigned was located so far to the left in the auditorium that I was unable to view three-quarters of the stage. Well after Act I had begun I relocated to a seat affording a full view and thus was able to give this report.

MASSACHUSETTS TURNPIKE AUTHORITY

The Massachusetts Turnpike Authority has announced to motorists that free coffee will be served at restaurants on the turnpike over Christmas and New Year Holiday weekends.

Chairman John T. Driscoll said "Howard Johnson Company, operators of the restaurants along the 135 mile super highway, would provide free coffee to promote safe driving."

The gesture is intended to remind motorists that rest stops and coffee stops can help keep drivers alert, thereby improving driving performance. All too often motorists in a rush to arrive at their destination become fatigued and a pause along the turnpike will enhance safe travel. Certificates will be distributed at the toll plazas, which allow motorists to be

[illegible]LIDAY DRIVING

Even if you consider yourself the world's best driver, winter weather requires paying added attention to the rules of the road.

Here's some advice from the Independent Insurance Agents of America (IIAA) that can help you drive more safely this holiday season.

Keep in mind that ice at 30°F has proven to be more slick than ice at zero degrees. Take extra care when driving slick roads and be sure your car has snow tires on.

Certain items should be placed in the car in case you find yourself stranded, or if your tires lose traction. For lost traction, keep sand, cat litter or some sort of traction mats on hand. Flashlights and blankets, as well as canned drinks and packaged foods, could be lifesavers if your car breaks down on a deserted road.

Begin driving in winter weather by slowly accelerating to determine if your wheels may spin -- if they don't reduce your speed and drive carefully. If they do, use the steering wheel. Steer the car in the direction you want the front to go and the rest of the car will probably skid out sideways. Do not brake until you have regained control of the steering wheel. Apply gradual pressure on the brakes.

While driving, remember to keep suf-

Be sure to have anti-freeze in your windshield washer as well as some in your cooling system.

choice destinations for motorcoach tour groups.

Commerce Commissioner Ronald M. Ansin called the ABA's selection "great news for Massachusetts".

"Motorcoach travel to Massachusetts is important to the tourism industry of the Commonwealth," said Ansin. "We're delighted that the ABA has chosen three Massachusetts events which are indicative of the thousands of attractions that bring visitors to the state year 'round. We're especially pleased that the American Crafts Council's Crafts Fair was recognized since 1984 marks its first year in Springfield."

The American Crafts Council (ACC) moved its Crafts Fair, formerly known as the "Rhinebeck Fair", from Rhinebeck, New York to Springfield, Massachusetts because the Fair has outgrown the New York facilities.

The Crafts Fair, considered the largest and most prestigious of all crafts markets in the United States, will be held at the Eastern States Exposition Fairgrounds in West Springfield from June 22 to 24.

On July 4th Old Sturbridge Village will re-create a 19th century Independence Day Celebration including a fancy costumed picnic, gun salutes and a dramatic reading of the Declaration of Independence. Boston's First Night celebration, which has attracted world-wide attention, includes a full day of events on December 31st beginning with an Afternoon Children's Festival and followed by an evening of 100 indoor events held throughout the city. The festivities are capped off by a midnight fireworks display over Boston Harbor.

"Top 100" designations by the ABA are based on nominations made by state and province travel directors in the United States and Canada. The 1984 list features events in 49 states, the District of Columbia, and eight Canadian provinces.

"Some are regional in scope and others have drawn international attention but all are regarded as first-rate attractions that show off the U. S. and Canada at their best", according to Norman R. Sherlock, president of the American Bus Association.

The list ranges from historical milestones such as the Maryland and North Caro-

Money Management

The following column is from the Massachusetts Society of Certified Public Accountants, Inc.

GET READY NOW FOR SOCIAL SECURITY CHANGES

The new Social Security law has some built-in surprises. For the first time since benefits began in 1940, some recipients will be taxed on their benefits. In addition, payroll taxes for workers and their employers will be boosted on January 1, 1984 with the steepest increases hitting the self-employed.

But the Massachusetts Society of CPAs says that understanding how the new law may affect you can shield you from some of the surprises. Certain measures taken before January 1 can save you money.

The most dramatic aspect of the Social Security Amendment of 1983, which takes affect January 1, 1984, is the new formula for determining if your benefits will be taxed and how much that tax will be.

Another new twist is that tax-exempt interest from such things as municipal bonds will now be included in calculating the amount of Social Security benefits that will be taxed.

THE BEST FOR LESS!

Here's how the new formula works; each individual will have a threshold income of $25,000, below which benefits will not be taxed. For married couples filing jointly, the threshold is $32,000.

To calculate if you are above or below this threshold, simply add these three easy-to-get numbers: take the sum of this year's adjusted gross income, add to it half your Social Security benefits for the year and add to that any tax-exempt interest you receive.

If the resulting amount is less than the $25,000 or $32,000 thresholds, no additional tax is due. If the resulting amount exceeds the threshold, however, you will be taxed on half the Social Security benefits or half the excess a... old, whichever is less.

Here's an example. Suppose that a 66-year-old retiree is filing an individual income tax return for 1984, the first year of the new law. He received a $12,000 pension, $3,000 in interest and dividends from stocks and bonds, $10,000 from tax-exempt municipal bonds and $6,000 from Social Security. His total 1984 income then, which includes only half his Social Security benefits, would total $28,000. After subtracting the base amount of $25,000, he'd have an excess income of $3,000.

To determine his new taxable income he would add $1,500 (half the excess above the threshold, which is smaller than half the Social Security benefits) to his original taxable income of $15,000 -- the sum of the $12,000 pension plus $3,000 in interest from stocks and bonds. From this income of $16,500, he would subtract $2,000 in personal exemptions because he is over 65. His 1984 tax bill on $14,500 would come to roughly $1,901. Without the new Social Security law he would have paid about $1,601 on a taxable income of $13,000.

Can planning minimize the effects of the new law? CPAs say yes. When possible, it is generally advisable to shift some income out of 1984, before December 31, and move it into 1983. Perhaps you can take a larger-than-usual withdrawal from your retirement account this year, and a smaller one next year. Or maybe you can sell certain assets now rather than waiting until next year when they will be included in the new tax formula and possibly push you across the threshold.

Another strategy involves delaying some expenses until next year, to reduce your gross income. For instance, you may be able to put off some deductible business expenses if you are self-employed. Or perhaps you can delay some expenses on some rental property. How you plan depends on your income and your needs, CPAs say.

In addition to taxing benefits, and including tax-exempt bonds in the formula, the new law has another wrinkle: steeper payroll taxes will be imposed over the next six years. While the effects on workers' paychecks will be buffered in 1984 -- because a tax credit will offset the boost -- those who are self-employed will feel the pain. In 1984 they will be required to pay a 14 percent self-employment tax. While this will be offset somewhat by a 2.7 percent tax credit, it still represents a sharp increase over the 1983 rate of 9.35 percent.

Salvation Army

CHRISTMAS - AND THE SALVATION ARMY

The Christmas season marks for most of us a time of deep religious significance as we celebrate the birth of Jesus. For many it is a time when they must be terribly busy as they make sure they have gifts enough for everyone on the list.

At the Salvation Army, however, it is some of each. Christmas represents that time of year when every Salvation Army Officer and Soldier turns with open arms to the needy, oppressed, homeless, unloved and unlovable in our society. It is a time when the men and women of the Salvation Army say to all those who have been forgotten by most of society that there is indeed someone who cares for them.

In Massachusetts, between Thanksgiving and Christmas, more than 275,000 men, women and children will be reached by the helping, healing hands of the Salvation Army. And that is why there are street corner kettles and bands throughout the Commonwealth. They serve as a reminder that the Christmas season is upon us - that the needy are still with us and still depend on us for help. With the continued support and generosity of Bay Staters it can happen again this year.

Prevent Choking

The following article is from the American Lung Association of Southeastern Massachusetts, Middleboro.

KEEP YOUR CHILD FROM CHOKING

With the Christmas shopping season here, parents are advised to choose toys with particular care for their pre-schoolers, said Dorothy L. Felt, President of the American Lung Association of Southeastern Massachusetts (SEMLA). "Approximately 2,000 children a year are killed in the United States by aspirating foreign objects into the lungs," Mrs. Felt reported. Children aged 5 and under suffer an average of 40,000 preventable injuries yearly and choking is the leading cause of accidental deaths in the home, it was reported by SEMLA. Most of these deaths could be prevented with knowledge.

According to the ALA, a public service message is being sent to all news media and nursery and daycare centers in southeastern Massachusetts to alert individuals of the ways to protect youngsters from inhaling foreign objects and provide first aid measures that are recommended for infants and children. "There are major variations on first aid measures recommended for children because of their smaller airways," Mrs. Felt cautioned. First aid measures for adults would not be affective for youngsters, Mrs. Felt explained.

Some suggestions offered by SEMLA on preventing a tragedy with a toy include: Removing loose parts from dolls such as eyes or buttons; wheels from cars and trucks; noisemakers from party horns; throwaway fragments of broken crayons; and avoid giving jacks or marbles to youngsters.

New Year's Customs

While you raise a glass of French champagne -- such as Henriot Reserve Baron Philippe de Rothschild -- to toast the New Year, you might be interested to learn how other people of the world celebrate this holiday.

Celebrating the birth of the New Year is an age-old custom marked by people everywhere and in many different ways.

In China of old, people welcomed the holiday by cleaning house, paying their debts and setting off a merry round of firecrackers, a custom still seen in many "Chinatown" areas of major American cities.

The New Year has strong religious significance in Japan where young and old don new clothes to visit family and friends. Doors and gateposts are adorned with gay decorations, standing for the traditional wishes of long life and happiness.

In France and Scotland, New Year's Day holds more importance than Christmas. It's the time for adults to exchange gifts in France. In Scotland, tradition holds that the first one in a house on New Year's Day brings luck. Midnight celebrators carry cake and spiced ale to wish their hosts a good year.

The Italian celebration is part of the entire Yuletide Festival that continues through Twelfth Night, the 6th of January.

Americans see in the New Year with a blend of the customs brought here by the many cultures of our ancestors. Few will argue that one of the most festive is the tradition of the champagne toast.

Regular Exercise

PHYSICAL FITNESS: WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW

According to the American Heart Association, regular daily exercise is vital to physical fitness and good health. It's also one of the major steps in programs to prevent heart attacks.

Recent studies show that a growing number of Americans are becoming aware of the importance of exercise. Today, more than 55 million American adults include regular daily exercise in their routine.

Some lift weights, others pedal stationary bicycles. For many, jogging, jumping rope, biking, swimming and skiing are popular.

The fitness fever has spread to every age...children, young adults, businessmen and women, moms and dads, even grandparents.

That's one reason many people are turning to home exercise systems that can keep them fit all year. For example, West Bend's Total Gym exercise system provides a total body conditioning program in one, compact unit.

Energy House

A model energy house that will demonstrate to the public how the latest energy-saving measures can be used in the home was opened in New Bedford on October 21.

The facility, operated by Southeastern Massachusetts University's Center for Energy and Environmental Management but dubbed the "Perfect Partnership House" because several agencies cooperated in the project, is located at 953 Pleasant

The house, formerly abandoned, has undergone extensive renovations for the purposes of both historic preservation and energy conservation and is an active demonstration of how older, historic homes can be made energy efficient. By visiting the house, the public will be able to see the actual energy conservation measures that were taken and can view many energy-saving appliances and devices on display there.

William C. Wild, Jr., president of SMU, stressed the uniqueness of the project at the opening ceremonies. "The University is proud to have participated in this novel undertaking along with the Waterfront Historic Area League (WHALE), the City of New Bedford's Office of Neighborhood and Historic Preservation, New Bedford Regional Vocational Technical High School, and many other private sponsors and donors," said Wild. "The partnership was a success," added Wild, "and the residents of Greater New Bedford and southeastern Massachusetts will benefit from its completion."

The Energy House will be the center for many educational programs and services related to energy conservation and the

"I wish I could tell you what it's like to receive a phone call telling of an accident to your beloved Mom and the relief of knowing that she not only got the medical attention she needed but the compassion as well ... my mother was treated with caring and compassion that we would all hope to receive ... but all too often don't."

Mr. M.J., Iowa

In this age of high technology and demanding licensure and accreditation requirements, all hospitals in Massachusetts must meet the highest national standards of medical care.

So how do you choose one hospital over another?

Compassion. Commitment. Caring. The hallmarks of Parkwood Hospital's healthcare services.

As Mr. M.J. observed, "We live in an 'instant' age where time for caring often has a low priority."

Not at this hospital.

At Parkwood, caring comes first.

NO. CA83-18146

To TOVAR ESCALANTE and BEATRICE A. ESCALANTE, both of Mattapoisett, in the County of Plymouth, and to all persons entitled to the benefit of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940, as amended.
